

Sample Manuscript for the 3rd Multi-Symposium on Control Systems

*T. Seigyo (Keisoku University)

Abstract– This document describes guidelines to prepare acceptable manuscripts for the upcoming SICE conference. All manuscripts should be prepared in Portable Document Format (PDF) and should be uploaded to the conference’s online submission system, no later than the prespecified deadline.

Key Words: Electronic paper submission, manuscript format, L^AT_EX

1 Introduction

The manuscript should be uploaded to the conference’s electronic submission system[1]. The introduction of this paper is as follows. The introduction of this paper is as follows. The introduction of this paper is as follows. The introduction of this paper is as follows. The introduction of this paper is as follows. The introduction of this paper is as follows.

2 Main body

You can write the main body of this paper here. You can write the main body of this paper here. You can write the main body of this paper here. You can write the main body of this paper here. You can write the main body of this paper here. You can write the main body of this paper here. You can write the main body of this paper here. You can write the main body of this paper here. You can write the main body of this paper here. You can write the main body of this paper here.

3 Conclusion

You can conclude this paper here. You can conclude this paper here. You can conclude this paper here. You can conclude this paper here. You can conclude this paper here. You can conclude this paper here. You can conclude this paper here. You can conclude this paper here. You can conclude this paper here. You can conclude this paper here.

References

- [1] <https://www.gakkai-web.net/gakkai/sice-ctrl/>
- [2] A. Konno, et al. : The Sample Manuscript for SICE 5th Annual Conference on Control Systems, Proceeding of SICE 12th Annual Conference on Control Systems, 1/4 (2012)